25 Tips To Keep and Improve Your Relationship

Keeping your relationship is quite hard and challenging. It is always "takes two to tango". So, we've gathered 25 important tips that you can start applying right now.

Listen. It leads to a better communication.		Take a few days apart. Missing each other is a great way to reconnect.
Put away your phones. Always give your undivided attention when your partner is speaking.		Create a checklist. List down new and adventurous things you want to accomplish for a day as duo.
Find top things you really love about them and tell them. Guys need confidence boosters, too!	\bigcirc	Learning to say "I was wrong" is a skill worth learning.
	\bigcirc	Take good care of yourself. as well both inside and out.
Know what you need and then ask for it.		Stop complicating things that aren't complicated enough.
Write notes. Handwritten notes are personal touches in today's highly digital world.		Pitch in. Help each other with chores and other necessary.
		Disconnect. Step away from your laptop during quality time. Everything on the Internet will still be there later.
Allow things to be what they are. Sometimes bad days and bad moods happen.	\bigcirc	Be an open book. They can either deal with it or they can't.
		Compliment, and often. You're there to make each other feel like your best selves.
Make promises that you really can keep.		Acknowledge positive actions and remind each other to keep it up.
Build genuine connections with the other's friends and family.		Pay attention to the tiny things that bother your partner, and if it's painless for you, work to change them.
Never ever forget to ask about the other person's day.		Small gifts go a long way. Bringing home a pack of their favorite candy/magazine/book by a favorite author never gets old.
Log onto Instagram and like all their photos. Just	\bigcirc	Go on a walk together somewhere beautiful. And don't

Go on a road trip. It's nice to get out of town sometimes.	Surprise your partner with one unexpected dinner with a home-cooked meal and a nicely-set table.
LEARN MORE: http://stylecaster.com/relationship-tips/	Make and Share Free Checklists checkli.com