What SMM strategies are working in 2018?

- 12 Choose your B2B SMM platform carefully: Facebook and LinkedIn are goldmines, Snapchat is social, not business. Twitter is remaking itself and worth another try if your previous efforts weren't successful.
- 13 Know Your Audience: Your business likely has multiple target audiences, go where your audience is. 80% of B2B leads come from LinkedIn. - Only B2B <https://www.only-b2b.com/blogs/best-2018-b2b-lead-generation-strategies/>
- 14 EIE: Use social media to educate, inform and engage.
- 15 Pay to Play: With increased emphasis on privacy and security your posts won't be seen unless you pay to promote them. And don't be fooled by Facebook's recent privacy backlash: FB's number of users and advertisers is increasing, not decreasing! <https://www.nytimes.com/2018/04/25/technology/facebook-privacy-earnings.html>
- 16 Real-Time: Posting and engaging in real-time while your audience is on-line opens the doors for conversations and building relationships.
- 17 Video Rules: 96% of consumers say videos help them make purchases. - Animoto

- 18 Add Caption Overlay on Videos: While video rules content marketing, not everyone can easily listen to video at work, on the subway or at the gym. Copy captions allow users to watch and understand your video - and help your SEO!
- 19 Responsiveness: User's expect a response to customer's questions and concerns in real time.
- 20 Personalization: Send personal follow and connection requests, thank users for reshares and comments, tag and call users by name.

What SMM strategies are outdated?

- 21 Don't Focus on Sales: Social media is about engagement, not a sales pitch. Do be useful, informative and helpful.
- 22 Don't Be Generic: The same message does not work for all social media platforms or for all audiences. Do customize your message to each network and to each target audience.
- 23 Don't Be Boring: Facts and stats are useful information, but they can be presented in a boring way. Do accompany your stats with eye-catching graphics and interesting headlines and hashtags that grab attention.
- 24 Don't Be Cheesy: There's a fine line between being entertaining and being cheesy. If you want to be taken seriously on social by B2B prospects understand your target audience and know what they're looking for in a provider. Do portray yourself on social media as an informative and personable expert in your field.
- 25 Don't Be Cheap: SMM requires time for strategy, posting and engagement. Unless you already have a huge following, it takes time - and often money - to find online prospects that convert to sales. Do budget time and money for B2B social media marketing.
