4 Challenges Architects Face - And How to Fix Them

https://sfarchitectureinc.com/4-challenges-architects-face-how-to-fix/

Like many industries, architecture has evolved at a rapid pace, and thus it is experiencing growing pains. While no two companies are exactly the same, we have been able to encounter common trends experienced among architectural professionals and firms across the board. Many of these hurdles have developed as technology, communication, generations, and inspiration change shape. Others are common issues that occur in most businesses. The good news? There are solutions to them, and it starts with our own ability to learn and adapt.
