

Steps to build a client case study for an agency

Case studies from clients are absolutely vital for a marketing agency to gain authority in their niche.

Follow the steps in this checklist to build an excellent portfolio of case studies.

STEPS TO MAKE A CLIENT CASE STUDY FOR A MARKETING AGENCY

Build Real Business

- ☐ Define the client - Explain in brief about the client's business, location, the products or services they offer.
- ☐ List out the challenges client faced while they came in contact with your agency.
- ☐ Explain in brief why you accepted to work with the client and what was the motivation.
- ☐ List out all the activities you implemented once you started working with the client and how it positively brought a change to their business.
- ☐ Map and display all the metrics before and after your agency started working with the client. Include tables and graphs wherever applicable.
- ☐ Include a quoted testimonial from the client in their own words explaining why they loved working with your agency. Include photos if the client approves it as it increases the authenticity.
- ☐ Explain in detail why your agency is different serving clients in the specific location and the specific niche.
- ☐ End with a clear call to action that could be booking an appointment, request to call or to fill out an application form.

Make and Share Free Checklists

checkli.com