

8 Easy Tips To Start Journaling

Journaling is a great way to clear your mind, put your personal truths on paper and documents amazing thoughts and ideas! Plus, it's fun! Here are 8 easy peazy tips to get you starting on your journaling journey!

- Protect your privacy - Always reserve the first page for your name and number in the off chance you ever lose your journal. If you prefer electronic journaling consider opening a separate
- Date Your Entries - If you are only able to establish ONE habit when it comes to journaling, make sure that dating your journal entries is that habit
- Keep and read what you write - This can be very helpful when you are using journaling to process emotions or going through a difficult time. It is always nice to loo
- Be truthful - Your own personal truth is not your enemy. You are only writing for yourself so write what is truly on your heart and mind. If you are worried about some
- When you start, don't stop. When you start a new entry don't stop writing until you've gogkten everything out and onto paper as you wanted to. Let everything flow out naturally.
- Write Naturally - The best thing about journaling is that there are no rules and nothing dictating how you have to write. Don't overthink how or what you are writing.
- Start with a quick meditation moment. Close your eyes, take a deep breath and spend a moment doing a quick meditation to get you in the mood for a writing session.