DIY business degree

If you're looking to craft a DIY business degree, you could do a lot worse than starting with their list of most popular business books assigned at Ivy League schools

 Asking the Right Questions: A Guide to Critical Thinking by M. Neil Browne
Organizational Culture and Leadership by Edgar H. Schein.
Essentials of Organizational Behavior by Stephen P. Robbins
The Management of Innovation by G. M. Stalker and Tom Burns. Published in 1961, this is "one of the most influential books about business organizations ever"
Business Finance: Theory and Practice by Eddie McLaney
A Theory of Human Motivation by A. H. Maslow
Critical Analysis of Organizations: Theory, Practice, Revitalization by Catherine Casey
Defining Moments: When Managers Must Choose Between Right and Right by Joseph Badaracco
Business Intelligence and Analytics: Systems for Decision Support by Efraim Turban
Corporate Finance by Jeffrey F. Jaffe, Stephen A. Ross, Randolph Westerfield