How to not get your stripe account rejected

Many businesses rely on the Stripe platform to process online payments. Having your Stripe account suspended could be a significant setback for small to medium businesses. However, you can take a few steps to ensure that your stripe account doesn't get suspended.

- [ ] When creating your stripe account, ensure you fill out all the necessary information.
- [ ] Ensure that all the information on your stripe account is up to date and accurate. If there are any changes to be made, be sure to update it on your stripe account.
- [ ] Be mindful of multiple failed payments. If there are too many failed payments, your account may be subject to suspension.
- [ ] Avoid using generic websites like facebook.com when creating your account. You should use your company's website or their social media URL.
- [ ] Be sure to include your customer support phone number when signing up. If you don't have one, set up a free google voice phone number.
