

5 Things To Consider When Building A New Residence

5 Things To Consider When Building A New Residence Think About Resale Value Even though you are building your first home, it will probably not be the last home that you will ever reside in. So, make sure to design your home with the idea of selling it in mind. While heart-shaped bathtubs and clay tennis courts may look like great ideas but they may be a little too much.