

A Girl's Guide to a Day in Chinatown in Chicago

A perfect day in one of Chicago most famous neighborhoods. Here's a checklist on how to see it all!

How to Get There

- You gotta take the water taxi to Chinatown. It's a great way to see the city and enjoy a boat ride. View the schedule here. <https://goo.gl/PhpYlk>
- You can get your tickets ($9 all day pass) before you board or click on the link <https://goo.gl/Tvrfy9>
- You can depart from two places; Navy Pier or Below Trump Tower (Michigan Ave.), and take the water taxi to the last stop, Chinatown.
- Follow the signs to Chinatown. (You will be picked up by the water taxi in the same place as drop off).

What to Do

- Order a bubble tea, perfect for a summer day and there's plenty of places with hundreds of different teas to try.
- Take a stroll around Chinatown and take a look at all the different architecture.
- There's also plenty of stores to take a look and shop in as well.
- Eat at Lao Sze Chuan for famous Chinese. Order the Tony's Chicken and the Crispy Lemon Shrimp. <https://goo.gl/1xVepF>
- Or try Chiu Quon Bakery Chinatown for some sweet and savory buns. <https://goo.gl/LkfGor>
- Dim Sum fans try Phoenix Restaurant <https://goo.gl/PIFB49> or Cai <https://goo.gl/C5w7Qo>
